Philosophy of time schedule: The idea is to mix it up a little. It's just a schedule and gives coaches/athletes a different approach to some 'typical' events. It may create a different strategy going into the April meet season. The priority was given to having the 200 meters run earlier in the day when the wind 'could' be lower and a better opportunity for some official marks. The 3200 meters will also be moved to an early time for less wind, better temp and density altitude for 'possible' better race conditions. This early in April could provide many different types of weather conditions. This is a very tentative schedule and your input is valuable. A finalized format will be sent back by early March.
